

NORTH AMERICAN MOSSES

How To Use The Key

The key is organized into groups of characters that lead to a list of mosses (genera and selected species) are provided. A list may be clicked to go to additional external information.

The characters are initially grouped into large categories. Selecting a category displays another list of subgroups. Selecting a subgroup displays characters. Selecting characters displays two lists of matching mosses. At any time, selected characters may be de-selected to view a new list of matching mosses). And, also at anytime, any matching mosses may be clicked to go to additional external information page on that taxon. At anytime a character may be clicked to go to additional information (definition, image, etc.) As the key is a dynamic tool, not all characters or taxa may lead to external information.

You may refresh the list of matching mosses, start a new search, or exit the key at any time.

any time.
